Reduce Administrative Workload

PayPal's payouts help sponsors and CROs automate operational processes and reduce the complexity of global payment distribution to sites, investigators, and patients. Quickly issue funds to trial participants and researchers using anonymous prepaid cards while still maintaining compliance with applicable regulations governing electronic health data.

Gain Greater Transparency & Control

Equipped with comprehensive reporting features, PayPal's payout capabilities help make it easy for CROs and their sites to quickly analyze transaction data and gain increased visibility into their payouts. Offer the payout choice your subjects want, all while improving funds management, helping to expand payment security, and mitigating the risks associated with traditional payment methods such as cash and checks.

Streamline Local & Global Payouts

Extend your trial payout capabilities across 200+ countries and regions through a single integration. With PayPal, you can help automate the payout process, reduce manual effort, and provide fast digital payment methods for sites, investigators, and subjects.
